films Greetings, this is the start of our Digimon Adventure tri. series. Starting with the first part of the series, now people can search for fun Digimon and people who like these have come together to form this. I'll try not to make too much of it but it is a bit spoilerish for people who still haven't seen the first part of tri. Part Two of the series will start here. That's all for now.Q: Active Admin - button with title

My problem: I'm creating a standard Active Admin form with an input field. I want to add a button to the input field, I want to create a toggle to change the length of the text (toggle between one and two lines) and I want to add a title to the button. How can I do this in active admin and ruby on rails 3.2? Thanks! A: Actually, you can, you just have to do it in the inline. For example, if your input field is called test, you can add: ...

`:check_box, :label => "this has a Title" %>` ... This works in the latest 4.0.0 You can even set the button's text to be the title of the input field. If you have a not yet paid-off credit card and using it for personal, non business purpose should be suspended because it may become a problem that you can avoid. In order to avoid such situation, you should pay off your credit card faster instead of investing a lot of time to pay it off. You should pay off your credit card because once you started using it, it would start to “take its toll” on you financially. Some of the credit card never ever reached its “ 0cc13bf012
