PingHurry Portable Crack+ Activator [32|64bit]

PingHurry Portable Full Crack is an utility that monitors network connectivity and displays the status on the Windows Taskbar, enabling quick access to the program. You can launch it from a removable media or CD, or install it on your PC. Network Monitor The program provides several common features that help you monitor the current state of the network, such as status of the hosts, network traffic and network speed. Ping Hijacking You can use the program to inspect a specific host's list of IPv4 and IPv6 addresses in real time, to check that it is reachable or unreachable. New TCP/IP Reject & Drop You can run a TCP/IP check to see what kind of configuration messages the host sees during a direct connection test. You can launch a TCP/IP check at several different intervals and see different information displayed: for example, you can check the state of the host's TCP/IP stack at the very moment it receives an incoming packet, or display the results of a TCP/IP ping test when the host sends an ICMP Echo request. Message Exporter The program is equipped with a built-in message exporter that allows you to export a list of IP addresses and the corresponding protocols, ports and times. You can use this feature to export a list of IP addresses, export one or more of them for later examination, specify a start and end time, or filter them by specifying a host name. Re-Link You can use a test protocol to re-create a TCP/IP connection and update the list of IP addresses. The program will use the correct settings for the TCP/IP stack in order to correctly perform this operation. It will show both the originally obtained time and the new one, as well as the state of the host. If you are unable to re-create a connection, the program will display a warning. IP Pool You can block IP addresses that you know are used by a server or service, or by an application that uses static IPs, in order to prevent specific programs and services from accessing the IP address space. IP Service It is possible to block all incoming and outgoing traffic on a specific port or IP address. This feature can be used to block services such as Telnet, RTP and DNS. You can specify any IP address or host name, port number or a range of ports. You can launch a connection test or perform a silent test of a service. You can also block the protocol and port that is used b7e8fdf5c8

What's New In?

- Host availability checking - Ping request sender - Functional test traceroute and ping - DNS checking - DNS flushing - Windows IP lookup - Route tracing - Network routes - Network mask lookup - Reverse host lookups - Pinging a list of IP addresses - Mac address lookups - MAC filtering - Advanced configuration options - Download the latest version Actions and functions Depending on the type of network problem you have, PingHurry Portable lets you determine which actions and functions to use. Check the help option in the application menu to learn more about each one: • The command line is used to execute each command; you can also use the function keys to execute them. Check the help option in the application menu to see all the commands available. • If the IP connection fails, you can perform a reverse host lookup on the IP address of the host. If the host exists, the application will return its domain name. • If the DNS server does not respond to an initial connection attempt, the application can be used to send a request to a DNS server located on the Internet in order to flush the DNS cache. • Once a specific port is opened or closed, you can use the built-in Ping tool to send test pings to a host. • If the route is not set properly, you can specify the required route with the built-in route tracing tool. • You can run the built-in MAC filter tool to view and modify the currently enabled MAC filter. • In case your IP address, subnet mask and gateway are not correct, you can easily change them with the built-in IP address and route configuration tools. • You can also check the network routes and compute the associated routing table. • If you are not sure about the route entered, you can perform a reverse host lookup on the IP address. Discussion PingHurry Portable is free to try. The application is not protected against the use of illegal or unauthorized advertising material as is the case with the free trial versions of certain competing products. If you like PingHurry, the application can be purchased for $3.95. 7 Comments My wife LOVES to control the MSN Chat rooms. This application has just "made" her life SOOO EASY. Thanks for this, we'll be buying this the next time we visit Madison. You may want to change the
