This question is based on the May 19, 2014 release of the OS X Mavericks update. I have a Cocoa app that has an internal name that I did not set manually. It has the name "MyApp" but I changed it to "My App" after removing an internal version of the app and the user, following this answer. The app was not signed and it was configured to handle installation from the Mac App Store, so when the user tried to install the app from the Mac App Store, it stopped downloading and started showing "the installation of My App has been interrupted" message. I logged onto the Mac and renamed the MyApp folder to My App in the same location. Now, I am trying to install the app directly from the Mac App Store and is showing "The
